Sentence Structure : Subject - Verb - Object ; SOV ; “Knight Kill Knave”

Noun - Adjective / Adjective - Nouns : Unlike English where you say “A Big (Adjective) Human (Noun)”, Angels would say “A Human (Noun) Big(Adjective)”, much like in Fr*nch / Arabic where you say “Un Homme Grand”/ “Ensanon Kabir” . Though much like in Fr*nch, saying “Un bon vin blanc” (Bon being an adjective, Blanc being an adjective as well), you can also say “A Big Human Fast”, or “A Fast Human Big”. or “A Big/Fast Fast/Big Human”, or “A Human Big/Fast Fast/Big”. In Angelic, adjectives circle the noun. So no matter where you put the adjective, so long as it is close to the noun, it is the noun’s quality. To be able to make an equivalent relation, here is how you can transform sentences.

“A big, fast, and strong human” == “A big/fast fast/big strong human” / “A big/fast and fast/big and strong human”

“A big human, that is also fast” == “A big/fast human fast/big”

“A human that is big, and fast” == “A human big/fast fast/big” / “A human big/fast and fast/big”

All the left hand-side sentences are correct in English, and they all mean the same thing. In Angelic, since all these forms are correct, you can use them all interchangeably by shifting around the order of the adjectives and nouns. Additionally, saying it through word by word translation in English is also correct! Remember, young baboon that you are, that Angelic is an archaic language, derived from Angels singing. To the Angels, making the song sound beautiful came before structural integrity, so interpreters of all races collided with their literal translation. The language is a product of multiple races interpreting, structuring, then mashing together all their literal transcripts. The language is very chaotic, and regional “accents” can effectively shift and change rules altogether!

Preposition - Noun : Like in English / Arabic, Angelic uses a PRE-position system. So you would say “They went TO the store” / “Huwa zahaba ILA al matjar”

Possessor - Possessed / Possessed - Possessor : Much like in English, you have the possessive < ‘s >, it being < ‘O-Z > in Angelic Example : Karim’ OZ book.

However, like in Arabic, you can also add a Suffix to the Object to signify it being a possession, that being < SH-U-RA >. It can even be used as a Prefix to the Object.
Example : Book-SHURA Karim (In Arabic : Kitab-ou Karim) / Karim SHURA-Book (Bastardized Arabizi, as in Angelic).
In case it is used as a Suffix, the Object comes before the Noun. As a Prefix, the Object comes after.

Plurals : The Ice Angels were keen on being united, as loneliness was known to be a beacon to despair. Hence why even their tongue included duality. Like in Arabic, you may use a Suffix (-NA-R-M) to indicate “Two of something”, as well as joint actions such as Co-authoring / Co-author. M-A-Y Suffix is for three or more plurals. So you could say : Two Karims == Karimnarm                      Three karims == Karimmay

Grammar : The language has survived well beyond the Angels themselves. Hence why a particular structure was made to discuss the past where they were still present, and even a future where they will come again. Hope is the core of this language after all, so it became an Auxiliary to verbs. Auxiliaries (will / going to / etc...) come before the verb.

	Perfective (definite action)	Imperfective / Progressive (continuous action)
Present	Like in arabic, not marked	Like in arabic, not marked
Past	‘Verb’-TE “Battled” == “karem te ”	Like in Arabic, there is no continuous past modification to the verb, but you do use a past version of “Be” to indicate this meaning. “Was / Were” + ‘Verb’ “Was/Were Battling” == “ kuwate karem”
Future	(‘Come’ / ‘Will’ / ‘Hope’) + ‘Verb’ “will bite” == “ carthus trashayn” / “ letol trashayn”	(‘Come’ / ‘Will’ / ‘Hope’)-V-E-Y-A + ‘Verb’ “Will be biting” == “ carthus trashayn veya ”

Valency-Changing Operators :

- Causative : “Make / Force / Oblige” : “I make you bite” == The words for “Make / Force / Oblige” will also work in Agelic
- Verbs can contain a Suffix to indicate a form of Possessiveness or Passiveness, as in Arabic, but we can also use a more English / French way of denoting the person / object with a pronoun. In case of stating a Passive verb, an Ordered Prefix-Suffix is necessary in the following order : Prefix(Subject)-Verb-Suffix(Object) ; Example “:He battled Me” == “otakaremteni” / “I battled him” == “nikaremteota”

The following include :

	English / Arabic	Angelic Suffix
Singular  (hers == [her]-oz) same for yours	My / Me / I == “My battle”	-NI == “karem ni ” / “[My] karem”
	Your / You / Yours == “Your battle”   “I battled yours (referring to something owned)”	-E-VA == “karemeva” / [Your] karem”   “ nikaremteeva ”
	His / He   Her / Hers / She	-O-TA
	It / Its	None, you use the word “it” forcibly
	One / One’s	None, you use the word “one” forcibly
Dual	We / Our / Ours == “My and your battle”	-NA-H-N == “karemn ahn ”
	Your == “You two’s battle”	-TO-U == “karemt ou ”
	They / Their / Theirs	-H-U-N
Plural	We / Our / Ours	-NA-H-N
	Your	-TO-U-M
	Their	-H-U-N-A

- Definite - Indefinite : Prefixes OR Suffixes are used to indicate whether the object discussed is known.
- Definite : F-RA / Z-DA / DA / H-I-Y-A / F-Y-A / H-O / P / KY : all can be used to mean “The” : “The Abyss” == “ho fehrem” / “p fehrem” / “fehrem da”
  - Indefinite : NA-R / F-I-Y-A-R / T-Y-A-R / NA / V-LA / D-RU : all can be used to mean “A / An” : “An Abyss” == “na fehrem” / “vla fehrem” / “fehremndru”

These Prefixes have varying connotations to them, related to how despairful, or hopeful an object is or can be, as well as how “Great” in power the object is. That isn’t to say that using them interchangeably hasn’t been done. In fact, certain songs sung by The Angels contained “Fya Kykaika”. Remember, young chimpanzee that you are, that this language is a collective amalgam of a language that was never to be spoken, or even written down. Sonata tablets were made before any writing tools or surfaces, and The Angels’ main communication medium was through magic pulses.

F-RA : Neutral - Despair	F-YA : Great - Despair	DA : Neutral - Neutral	Z-DA : Great - Neutral
H-I-Y-A : Neutral - Hope	KY : Great - Hope	P : Unknown - Despair	H-O : Unknown - Unknown

Counting - Placement Order : There is no “-nth” suffix in Angelic. Counting and ordering are context reliant topics. If you wish to say “The person is in first place”, you would have to say in Angelic “The person is in [The One (piece is reeeaaal)] place”. While this can create some confusing scenarios, such as referring to a ubiquitous entity with “They are at The Two places”, where “the two” refer to previously established locations, the fact that “places” is in plural is more than enough of a syntactically indicator that “two” refer to a number, and not a placement, as saying “They are at the Second place” would remove the plural. And using “The one place” in english is syntactically wrong, so all ambiguity is dispelled.

“They are in first place” == “They are in The One place”
“They are in The place” == “They are in The place”
“They are in the two places” == “ they are in the two places”
“They are in the second place” == “ they are in the two place”      Hence how ambiguity is dispelled

Numbers names go from 0 to 9, with all other numbers being composites, with the exception of 10, 100, 1000, 10000, 100000, and 1000000.

0 : KA-H-RE-M	5 : KA-SH-TI-R	10 : KA-RA	1 000 000 : KA-S-T
1 : NA-H-RE-M	6 : NA-SH-TI-R	100 : NA-RA	Composite work by taking the first 2 letter of the left-most number, and repeating
2 : YA-H-RE-M	7 : YA-SH-TI-R	1 000 : YA-RA	until you reach the right-most number. Example : 269 and 1269
3 : DA-H-RE-M	8 : DA-SH-TI-R	10 000 : DA-RA	YAH-(200)-NASH-(60)-LASHTIR-(9) and NAH-(1000)-YAH-(200)....
4 : LA-H-RE-M	9 : LA-SH-TI-R	100 000 : LA-RA
